Today's Speaker — Peggy Lake from K.C.C.

Peggy is a graduate of Indiana University and has been on Kaua'i for 22 years. She joined Kaua'i Community College in April of 2010 as a Training Coordinator in the Office of Continuing Education and Training (OCET). She was formally employed by Workforce Development Division, Kaua'i Branch for 14 years and as the Training Manager as the Grand Hyatt Resort and Spa over three years.

Peggy will talk about the Employment and Training Funds and it's benefits to employers. She will also talk about flexibility OCET has to meet the needs of individual employers with custom classes. Finally she would like to ask our members what type of classes they think might be missing from our offerings.

Rotary Foundation Dinner on Kaua'i

On January 26 the clubs on Kaua'i will be hosting a representative from The Rotary Foundation (T.R.F.). That representative name is Steven Solomon. He will talk to us about the many projects that T.R.F. is doing around the globe. For those that have heard him speak, they say he is fantastic. He gives facts as well as tells us about the future of endeavors T.R.F. endeavors. What will they be doing in futures years as the Polio Plus campaign comes to a near end. He'll also talk about the massive growth that has occurred in the foundation over the past years as well as how we are patterning with other organizations.

He and a representative will be on island January 26 in the evening. The dinner event starts at 6:00 PM. It will be at Lemongrass Restaurant in Wailua. $25.00 per person is the fair. Please e-mail reservations to our club foundation chair, Laurie Yoshida. We'll soon need a count to give the restaurant so they can accommodate everyone. We are expecting about 40 plus members and guests.

Show Us Your Best Shot

Do you have a great shot from a club project or fundraiser? Did you capture a memorable moment at the convention or during an international trip? Enter your images in The Rotarian's 2018 photo contest and you might see them in the pages of the magazine. You may enter up to three photos taken since 1 January 2017. While some photos might have elements of all three, select one category to enter your photo.

Our previous guest judges have included Pulitzer Prize-winning photographer David Hume Kennerly, Kathy Ryan, director of photography for the New York Times Magazine and photojournalist Steve McCurry. This year's judge will be announced soon.

To enter go to Rotary.org.

Whirlwind tour of alumni in Japan

A visit to Japan last month took me on a week-long, whirlwind tour. My visits to multiple Rotary districts gave me the chance to meet members of the Rotary family, including classically-trained musicians, development workers, school teachers, architects, university professors, business leaders, and young professionals. Despite their varied backgrounds, those I met have something in common: they proudly call themselves Rotary alumni.

Who are alumni?

Alumni include former recipients of Rotary scholarships, Rotary Peace Fellowships, and past participants of Group Study Exchange, Youth Exchange, Rotaract, and other programs. Japan's Rotary Yoneyama

Memorial Foundation awards over 700 scholarships annually, adding considerably to the Rotary alumni family. Through these programs, Rotary has helped foster in alumni a desire to give back to their communities. Within Japan, there is a strong network of alumni associations which help them do just that while maintaining their connection to Rotary and each other.

Alumni associations around Japan

A lesson I quickly learned, however, was that no two alumni associations are exactly alike!

My first stop was in Kobe, where the Japan Rotary Alumni Association held their 7th annual meeting. This group brings together former scholars and other Foundation alumni from around Japan. A lively reception and performances by some seriously talented music scholars made it easy to feel the common bond the alumni enjoy. Foundation alumni associations like these often hold orientations for new scholars and reunions for returnees, and passionately support the programs that impacted their own lives.

Relatively newer associations, like those I met in Osaka and Kyoto, have members from a variety of Rotary programs, though their energy and enthusiasm are equally infectious. In Kyoto, I was given the opportunity to talk about The Rotary Foundation on the local radio. The radio host, an Ambassadorial Scholar alumnus, told me about his desire to give back to Rotary, and how he and his alumni association advocated for Rotary's mission locally.

Yoneyama alumni associations also operate in nearly every district in Japan, sometimes using their connections abroad to help Rotary find partners for international projects. Thanks to a partnership with an alumni association in Sri Lanka, Rotary District 2620's Yoneyama Alumni Association is currently organizing a medical equipment donation project.
